

Weiss Properties, Inc

We are an incredibly entrepreneurial commercial & residential investment and development group that is seeking an analyst Intern to assist us in research and modeling.

As an organization we target high value add investments that tend to require a bit of creativity as well being able to ask the right questions.

As such our projects are varied in their scope ranging from commercial development, adaptive reuse of historic properties, restoration of a historic distillery, and acquisition of distressed notes.

Role

The analyst position will be responsible for driving the research involved in identifying and analyzing potential investments. The analyst would then collaborate with the other members of the team, with the goal of the analyst seeing through their project through; from their initial identification to acquisition if there is viable acquisition and value add opportunity.

As an organization we are fairly horizontal in structure and the analyst will be encouraged to develop their own initiatives in addition the roles highlighted.

Skills sought

The ideal candidate would be someone who has an interest in real estate, strong excel skills and a personality type that leads to them to taking initiative on projects. The position will involve working directly with several professionals who in addition to the work at Weiss have their own personal RE portfolios and there is tremendous opportunity to learn about the field, investment strategy and entrepreneurial pursuits.

Please provide resume and cover letter. On resume please include test scores on standardized tests taken (ACT, SAT, GRE, GMAT)

Internship Compensation: $15/hr

Position can be converted to full-time with salary conversion opportunity. We are open to applications from currently enrolled college students, recent grads, or those looking to switch over the RE field.

Please send resume and cover letter to gonzalo@weissproperties.com.